Wheatland Tube's, Wheatland PA facility products listed below have been WQA certified to NSF/ANSI Standard 61 Drinking Water System Components – Health Effects

This standard establishes minimum health effects requirements for the chemical contaminants and impurities that are indirectly imparted to drinking water from products, components, and materials used in drinking water systems.

The Water Quality Association (WQA), a fully accredited Certifier by ANSI, has listed the product types: Pipe and Well Casing under their Gold Seal Mark Certification Program.

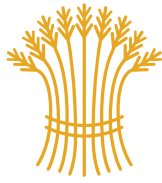

The Water Quality Association only awards the Gold Seal Mark to those systems, components, or additives that have met or exceeded industry standards for contaminant reduction, structural integrity, and material safety. NSF International is the author of NSF/ANSI-61 standard but, products certified to the standard do not have to be certified by NSF. All American National Standards Institute (ANSI) accredited certifiers are equivalent and equally accepted by regulators. Compliance with codes and regulations can be demonstrated by certification to the cited standard(s).
